Background

Johnson became 8th Chancellor of the Oklahoma state system in January 2007 after a national search. Before assuming the role of chancellor, Johnson served as the 16th president of Southeastern Oklahoma State University in Durant for ten years.

During his tenure as president, Johnson instituted strategic goals and plans for the University that have positioned the institution as the "university of choice" for students in southeastern Oklahoma and northern Texas. Through his leadership enrollment increased to maximum capacity (4,500–5,500); renovation and expansion in an aggressive five-year plan of campus infrastructure and student-centered learning and living environments; integration of the latest technology into the curriculum and classroom; and building collaborative partnerships among academic disciplines and external constituencies through research, development, and academic innovation.

Johnson's served as Director of Public Policy and Professor of Law at the University of Oklahoma, College of Law. Prior to his work at the University of Oklahoma, Johnson served in the Oklahoma House of Representatives from 1982 to 1996 and was Speaker of the House from 1990 to 1996. At the time of his election as Speaker he was the youngest sitting Speaker in the United States.

Johnson has been recognized both statewide and nationally as a strong, untiring advocate for funding for education, both secondary and higher education, in Oklahoma. His powerful political career was a model of success in leadership, as evidenced by the variety of his many major accomplishments not only for his own district 24 (Hughes, Okfuskee and Okmulgee counties), but also in major initiatives, funding and improvements for the entire state of Oklahoma as Speaker of the House and chair of important legislative committees.

During his term in the House, Johnson was instrumental in the passage of HB 1017, Oklahoma's landmark education reform legislation, and served as chair of the Appropriations and Budget Committee and the Appropriations Subcommittee on Education. He authored Senate Bill 180 in 1988 that created the Endowed Chairs Program; and spearheaded the opportunity to use $14 million from the proceeds of the Higher Education Bond Issue for ONENET. In 1992 he was principal author of HB 2428, the $350 million Higher Education Bond Issue. Johnson's unflinching efforts on behalf of raising the bar on higher education in Oklahoma are simply too numerous to list.
