Appendix A
State of Oklahoma
Data Processing Notes 2002
Personnel and Class Data Files

1. The base data for the Educators Supply and Demand Study begins with educators selected from the Personnel database. These files contains a field labeled “position code” field which defines the educator’s primary position (in that district). This provides a high level grouping of the educators into positions such as Administrative, Special Educators, Staff positions, and teachers. Please refer to Appendix B for a complete listing of this first level assignment.
2. A combination of position code and the site code is used to determine whether an educator is assigned to an elementary school teacher, middle school or high school.
3. Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) is calculated from the data files using the following formula:

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{(Number of Days Employed/ Number of Days in Full-Time Contract)} \\ & \times \\ & \text{(Fraction of Day Employed/1000)} \end{aligned}$$ where the first part calculates the percentage of time the person is employed over the year, and the second part is the percentage of time they are employed during the day (part-timer). This yields an estimate for FTE typically in the range of 0 to 1.

4. Total Salary is calculated as:

Base Salary + Fringe Benefits
5. Educators who work in more than one school (site) are then reviewed to determine the position in which they spend the majority of their time (highest FTE). Ties are broken by highest number of days employed and then by highest assigned position.
6. Once the educators primary position has been set, the district in which they spend the majority of their time in that position is assigned.
7. For the middle school teachers and high school teachers are then segmented into their areas of specialization using the Class or Assignment files to get a listing of all the classes taught by the teacher as well as all the enrollment in those classes. By selecting out the classes taught by these middle school and high school teachers and then aggregating them, it is possible to determine how they spend the majority of there time.

Change in Methodology from the 1997 Report to the 2001 Report:

Because the Personnel files and the Class files were originally intended for purposes other than the generation of supply and demand analysis, there are a number of inconsistencies between the two files that provided the basis for a change in methodology. The following two statements limit the direct connection between the files:

- a. The employment files are the primary method of identifying the position that an educator holds with a district.
- b. The class files, particularly for 1995-96, have no reliable connection to the employment files. It is not possible to validate the employment file position code by analyzing the class files.

A revised methodology was agreed upon between Debra Stuart and Data and Decision Analysis and is outlined below:

8. Classes (assignments), number of sections and students are aggregated for all middle school and high school educators as identified above. Only assignment records for middle school, high school and special education are used.
9. Every effort is made to determine the correct specialty and not resort to assigning the teacher to the "Other High School" teacher category.
